Dear Families,

Today, Governor Hochul announced that New York State will implement the new recommendations set by the CDC regarding face coverings, effective Wednesday, March 2. As of this date, face coverings will become parent choice for their children at all grade levels. To be clear, face coverings are still required in all district buildings and buses this Monday and Tuesday.

All other COVID requirements, such as screening your child before school for sickness, quarantining, distancing, and Test to Stay, still remain in place until we receive additional information from the state and county.

This is good news as we enter the endemic stage of the pandemic and continue to move towards more normalcy for our children.

I hope everyone has a great week and I thank you for your continued partnership and cooperation.

Sincerely,

David Lilleck
Superintendent of Schools
