January 7, 2022

Dear Parents and Students,

As many of you are aware, The NYS Department of Education has canceled the January Regents 2022 examinations. Since those previously planned exam days now need to be used for instruction, there will not be a January exam period this year. January 25th through January 28th will now be required class days for students. These four days will be added into the 2nd quarter for grading purposes. The six-day cycle will continue in the current sequence with Monday, January 24th being a “day 3” and Tuesday, January 25th is now a “day 4” on and so on. The 3rd quarter/2nd semester will begin on Monday, January 31st as originally planned.

Final exams and remaining mid-term assessments will be completed during the normal class periods. Teachers will be communicating directly with students with the plan for their specific class. There was no advanced notice from NYSED regarding these cancellations and I appreciate everyone’s flexibility with these on-the-fly shifts.

Sincerely,

Jonathan Wolf
Principal
